

At the national council...

Friday, 17 August 2007

I learned to develop a plan It was the first time that I could participate in the 24th national council. I will always remember this experience. I could understand the issues faced by young workers. I could also see the development of YCW leaders. I learned to develop a plan. I could learn how ROLWA method could be used to develop personal action in my life. I will share what I learnt here to my family members.
